

Forty-Fifth Congress.

Forty-Fifth Congress—Closing Session of the Session—Final Adjournment.

By Telegraph to the News.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—After a brief discussion the Senate last night confirmed Reuben E. Fenton as Commissioner of the National Monetary Commission. The House, on the other hand, was confirmed as Auditor of railroad accounts under the recent law.

Congress adjourned sine die at seven o'clock this morning.

The Senate passed the House bill to pay George H. Geddings for mail service from Santa Fe to San Antonio.

The Senate laid aside the House bill fixing the pay of letter carriers.

The House bill establishing post routes was called up, but objection was made to its consideration.

The House bill authorizing Professor Spencer F. Baird to receive from the King of Sweden a diploma and medal, and the Senate bill authorizing Surgeon Wm. J. Wilson, U. S. A., to receive from the Khedive of Egypt a medal, passed.

The Senate, after three o'clock, was several times without a quorum; many Senators were asleep in the committee and cloak rooms. Thurman appealed to the Senators not to leave the chamber, and said should a quorum be wanting, the Sundry Civil bill might fail, and an extra session of Congress would cost the people $100,000 or more, would be unnecessary. He hoped the Senators would remain, and that this session would be finished with credit to Congress.

Bruce, of Mississippi, introduced a bill to establish a National Academy of Education, giving preference to the genius and talent of the land and to orphans of the Republic. Referred to the Committee on Education and Labor.

It provides that the President and Vice President of the United States, the Chief Justice, the Speaker and Chaplain of the House of Representatives, the Secretary of the Smithsonian Institute and the Commissioner of Education shall be a body corporate, to be known as the National Academy of Education. They are to establish academies in several States, and Congress is to appropriate annually one-third of the amount necessary for their support, providing the State Legislatures and people of the State contribute the other two-thirds. It further provides that there shall be established in the District of Columbia an academy upon the same basis, which shall be the model for State Academies.

The House was busy all night considering various resolutions and motions from members regarding public business, nearly all of which could not reach the Senate in the regular way, and, of course, came to naught.

At seven o'clock the usual expressions from the presiding officers of both Houses were made in their respective chambers, and the closing session of the Forty-fifth Congress expired.

The President was at his room in the Capitol all night, and signed the Civil bill just ten minutes before the final adjournment.

Just before adjournment the President sent to the Senate the nominations of Admiral Daniel Ammen, Col. John G. Barnard and Leonard Whitney, of the District of Columbia, Commissioners to ascertain the condition of the Naval Observatory in Washington, D. C.

On motion of Mr. Sargent, the Senate went into executive session, and the nominations were confirmed without discussion.

THE EUROPEAN CONGRESS.

By Cable to the News.

LONDON, June 20.—Private negotiations in Berlin on the Bulgarian questions continue. England wishes the Turks to have power to garrison and fortify the European frontier, and to resist to this plan confirms the apprehensions that if it is finally rejected the idea of uniting the Bulgarian with Turkish garrison near the Danube and the Russian civil administration will be revived.

A Times' Berlin despatch says the consideration of the Bulgarian question in Congress was again postponed yesterday, because the plenipotentiary, who was to open the session, was not ready with his proposals.

A Reuter from Berlin says the Congress has decided to admit Greece with a consultative voice on the question affecting the Greek interest.

VIENNA, June 20.—The Political Correspondence says: The Powers continue to act in groups, but not necessarily in a hostile sense. Austria and England, from one point of view, and Turkey from another, oppose Russia's claims. Germany, France and Italy are in a mediatory attitude, but this will not hinder any of them from voting in favor of one or the other group when questions become clearly defined. There can be little doubt of a thorough understanding between England and Austria or of the likelihood of its continuance during the entire deliberation.

Miscellaneous Telegrams.

By Telegraph to the News.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., June 20.—The Republican of the sixth district has nominated General William Grose; the eleventh district, Calvin Cowley; and the Democrats of the eighth district A. J. Hostetter, for Congress.

NASHVILLE, June 20.—A Jackson, Tenn., special says the fire yesterday destroyed the finest block in the city.

LONDON, June 20.—At a meeting of 2,000 spinners in Blackburn, only one voted in favor of the resumption of work at full reduction of wages.

The operatives in the cotton mills at Darwen, Burnley, Accrington and Preston have generally resumed work. Only the spinners at Blackburn continue to hold out.

BINGHAMPTON, N. Y., June 20.—The Erie Railroad depot at Watervly, was burned last evening. Loss, $250,000. The Courtney house and livery stable were also destroyed. Loss on the hotel, $12,000.

St. John's, N. B., June 20.—A despatch received from the ship she ship Cambria abandoned at sea. She was on a voyage from Pabellon Depica for Cork. Part of the crew were drowned.

PATTERSON, N. J., June 20.—All the weavers in Adams' mosquito netting factory have struck, owing to the ten per cent. reduction. The number on the strike is 250, and 2,000 hands are thrown out of employment.

LONDON, June 20.—The London correspondent of the Edinburgh Scotsman says rumors of the dissolution of parliament are not only actively circulating, but they obtain credence in influential quarters. The war party is still angry with the government for making such favorable terms with Russia as are disclosed in the Schoups-

THE UNIVERSITY NORMAL SCHOOL.

Programme Announced—Work Laid Out—Arrangement of Classes—Miss Coe—Numbers Increasing—A Great Educational Work.

Special Report for the News.

CHAPEL HILL, June 19.

At half-past eight o'clock an increased attendance assembled in the University chapel. Professor Ladd read verses from the Scriptures and the audience repeated after him. A hymn was sung and the audience joined in prayer with the Superintendent, Prof. Ladd.

PUNCTUALITY ENJOINED.

After finishing devotional exercises, the Superintendent enjoined all to be punctual in their attendance upon all the exercises. Punctuality, he said, is one of the cardinal points which must be observed in any school that expects to meet with success.

PROGRAMME.

The temporary programme has been made out, and the work will be commenced on the basis that the school is divided into two grand divisions—1. The Special Course. 2. The Public School Division.

The Special Course includes those members who may desire to study Latin, Algebra, Philology, Chemistry, Shakespeare.

The Public School Course embraces all others not included under this head; those who will study Grammar, Arithmetic, Geography, Reading, Spelling, Phonetics, Penmanship, Drawing and Physiology.

ADVANCED STUDIES.

It will thus be seen that those who studied the elementary branches last year will have an opportunity of taking a more advanced course. In this way a student will be led summer after summer into broader fields of culture and great fruits will certainly follow.

WORK FOR THE WEEK.

The work for this week will be as follows: Shakespeare, 10 to 11, daily, except Saturday.

Analysis, 11 to 12, Monday, Wednesday and Saturday.

These classes are conducted by Prof. Page. Prof. Noble will meet his Latin class as follows:

Classical class, 1 to 12, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday.

Gildersleeve, 11 to 12, Monday Wednesday and Saturday.

Bingham, 4 to 5, daily, except Saturday.

The Algebra class will meet Professor Graves from 9 to 10, Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

Professor Grundy will meet the elementary class, 9 to 10 on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

The above refers to the recitations for the special course.

PUBLIC SCHOOL COURSE.

The work for those electing the public school course, begins at 9 o'clock.

9 to 9:40, sec. A, Arithmetic.

9:40 to 10:20, sec. B, Geography.

10:20 to 11:00, sec. C, Arithmetic.

At 10:20 a recess of twenty minutes is taken.

At 10:40 sec. A has Grammar.

At 10:40 sec. B has Reading.

At 11:20 sec. B has Grammar.

RECITATIONS.

These sections have each one recitation, a week in drawing and penmanship. These take the place of Geography.

They also have two in spelling and phonetics in the place of reading, and one week in Physiology in the place of grammar.

Daily at 12 o'clock, Professor Ladd will lecture on School Management, Discipline, Organization, &c.

Professors Graves, Noble, Winston, Page and Grundy have charge of the special course.

Professors Ladd, Owens, McIver, Hotchkiss, Watson and Miss Coe have charge of the Public School course.

The Normal School is under the supervision of Professor Ladd, Captain Jno. E. Dugger, of the Raleigh Graded School, is Secretary.

ARRANGEMENT OF CLASSES.

To-day the classes in Latin, Shakespeare and music were arranged. The professor of Latin literally dissected each of the applicants into his Cæsar class. As we left the room he was occupied in examining a gentleman who has been teaching school for the last 30 years—just four years longer than the Professor has lived.

KINDERGARTEN WORK.

Miss Coe arrived last night, and will begin work to-morrow. She has already made arrangements in the chapel by means of which all can see the exhibitions in the kindergarten work.

INCREASING NUMBERS.

The incoming vehicles have increased the number of Normals to 235. This is an auspicious beginning. The pupils all manifest a decided inclination to begin work, and the brilliant results cannot be expected from this summer's work. I believe the University Normal School is to be the redemption of the educational system of the State.

Waving the fact that a vast fund of knowledge is here acquired, the impetus and the incentives which a teacher here acquires are sufficient remuneration for the time and money spent.

THE TEMPLE AND HOUSE.

Correspondence of the News.

RALEIGH, June 20.

As names are being proposed for the Legislature, it is well to recommend for the Senate that good old wheel horse of Democracy Maj. A. M. Lewis, this gentleman can carry more votes than any other man in the county of Wake, and is well known to every voter in the county. For the House of Representatives the noble standard bearer of the Bloddy Fifth, Mr. F. C. Fleming, these gentlemen will give strength to the ticket.

Strong Convictions.

North Carolina Presbyterian.

We like men of strong convictions, men who have definite opinions and can give a reason for the faith that is in them. As much as we dislike infidelity, we prefer it to a baseless, jelly-fish sort of a creed that welcomes to its embrace everything from the hyphen-Calvinist down to the Universalist and Unitarian. Theological hash is a very poor article. Without entering into the deep questions involved in the consideration of the visible Church and the various denominations, we would say that there is a great deal of twi-

SENIOR CLASS DAY.

The weather yesterday morning was as pleasant as could be; a soft breeze sprang up about nine o'clock and continued throughout the morning, making it delightful for those who were so fortunate as to be present.

The young ladies of the celebrated institution whose name heads this report. The doors of the magnificent parlor were thrown open at ten o'clock, and from that hour until eleven, those who had arrived arrived themselves by examining the magnificent paintings and portraits, which adorn the walls of the spacious room. QUITE a number of gentlemen are suggested for Legislative honors in the News this morning, all of whom appear to be worthy men for the positions to which their names are assigned. The county convention, which meets to-morrow, will be able to determine who are the best and strongest.

THERE are two possible good things to come out of the nomination of a colored Solicitor for this district. That nomination, in the first place, prevents the nomination of a colored man for Congress in the second district; in the second place, the Legislature can impeach a Solicitor, not for being colored, but for incompetency. Everybody declares Collins to be utterly and entirely incompetent. He spells it "judiciary," and could not make a speech to accept the nomination. His chief striker, Logan Harris made the speech of acceptance for him.

THE Wilson College commencement exercises are going on this week, and the reports indicate rapid strides of progress in the educational work of that section. The school managers are evidently doing their whole duty by pupils and patrons, and the instruction imparted to the youthful minds in training fully up to the requirements of the age of progress and intellectual competition. The address of Professor Taylor was said to have been the best ever delivered before a school at Wilson. The people there are to be congratulated on the presence in their midst of two such institutions as those of Professors Brewer and Hassell.

CONGRESS has adjourned. Much has been done and much left undone. Much that was done had better been left undone, and much that was not done should have been done. This has been a long session. If we take in the extra session, which practically ran into the regular, it was the longest session of Congress in which all the States of the Union have ever participated. The country will doubtless take relief from the fact that the session has terminated. Members will now repair to their respective localities and begin the work of pipe-laying for their return. Many will be disappointed. But all the indications point to an increased Democratic majority this year.

THE Charlotte Observer thinks there is a manifest misunderstanding on the part of some of the State press respecting the Senatorial matter, and its own attitude in regard thereto, and in reply to the Hillsboro Recorder, lays down briefly some sound Democratic doctrine. The Observer says:—

Our friend of the Hillsboro Recorder evidently misunderstands the Observer's position on the Senatorial question, for we are sure that it would not intentionally pervert our language. We mean just this: That we are for the nominee of the Democratic caucus of the next Legislature for United States Senator. We are for Vance because there can hardly be a doubt that he will be the nominee. He is our preference for Senator, but if the caucus declares against him, all well and good; we are for whoever the party is for. By the "conspiracy" over which the Recorder thinks we are alarmed, we meant a conspiracy of Radicals and bores. We fear the "obscuration" of no man. All that we desire is to guard against the "obscuration" of the will of the Democratic party. Does our esteemed contemporary understand us?

The Negrophilist.

The Tarboro Southerner, of yesterday, brings a report of the Radical Journal Convention at that place on Tuesday.

The proceedings indicated anything but a happy family, and Magnin, drawing the first blood, held the whip hand throughout the day. This was the first exhibition the Tarboroans have ever had of the peculiarly happy style of the Raleigh Radical ward politician, and that people were amazed and amused at what has become an old worn out play on the Metropolitan boards.

Captain Lee is set down as Teutonic Tim, and his speeches characterized as negrophilizing, demagogical and disgusting. Mr. John Calhoun Logan Harris is reported as making "an extremely negro-loving speech, saying it was time for a negro to hold a judicial office; that it was a test of Republicanism; the negro would know hereafter whom to support; accused Magnin and Sheriff Hubbs, of Craven, of being disgruntled."

The Southerner report continues:—"Rev. Mr. Crawford, col., made the speech of the day, fairer to the white race than that of Tim Lee, and more respectable every way. It was an excellent, temperate speech, full of good advice to the colored citizens. Sheriff Hubbs, of New Bern, made a fair speech all 'round. Said the Republican party was dead and would never again live so long as such men were nominated."

Mr. Magnin got up and fairly skinned the ex-Solicitor, and exposed his hypocrisy. Said Harris wanted the nomination, and when he found he couldn't get it, now wants to be Collins' deputy-assistant. Assured colored people his expenses were paid to come down and defeat the Tim Lee-Harris ring. Tim Lee, who loved the negro to-day, defeated Hyman for Congress. Magnin abused Hayes as a fraud, and wanted the great Grant to come in 1880."

The United States Senatorship.

Some of the State papers are evidently taking on a scare. They appear to be cultivating the apprehension that Senator Merrimon and Governor Vance may split the Democratic party.

Such fear, it is scarcely necessary to say, is entirely groundless. A hundred such men as Vance and Merrimon could not combine the power to inflict serious injury on the organization of the Democratic party. They are but men like others of their fellow citizens, and without a following of the people would be of no more importance or significance in politics than the humblest citizen in private life. It is the favor of the people which gives them prominence, and it is the public preference that just now gives life to discussion on the Senatorial subject. The preferences of the people have not often split the Democratic party in the past, and no more danger is to be apprehended of the future.

Respecting the two gentlemen under consideration, nothing which they have ever hitherto done indicates any power on their part to inflict serious injury on the Democratic organization, and it is hardly probable that either now contemplates such purpose. As to Governor Vance, he has always stood squarely by the party organization, and no act of his affords room for the slightest doubt that he will ever be wanting in loyalty and true faith to the Democratic party. Then how, in any event, he can by any manner of means be a cause of dissension, or an instrument of destruction to that party, is beyond ordinary comprehension, nor has there been any effort on the part of those who affect to fear him to demonstrate the theory vaguely attempted to be set up.

As to Senator Merrimon, it is remembered that he stepped outside of the party organization in 1872 and defied it. His action had the effect to defeat the will of the party in the Senatorial election of that year. But that did not split the Democratic party. It did not weaken or affect its organization in the State in the least, produced no subsequent want of harmony among the Democratic members of the Legislature, and the day after the election no visitor to the Hall of the House or Senate Chamber would have dreamed that there had been the slightest division of the day before among the Democrats sitting in the two Houses. No perceptible effect was produced on the people. The Democracy of the State failed in no subsequent election because of the Senatorial squabble of 1872. On the contrary, at the very next election the Democrats almost completely swept the State. They elected seven out of eight Congressmen, gained four Judges on the Superior Court bench, called a convention by the Legislature chosen in 1874; in 1875 carried the convention, and in 1876 swept the State.

Now this did not much indicate a divided party, and yet the strain to which it was subjected in the Senatorial contest of December, 1872, was probably as great, if not greater, than will ever be put upon the Democratic organization again. Therefore, it is next to idleness to be predicting division and destruction in the ranks of a great party that has for years been standing the shock of defeat, as well as winning victories; that survived the war and lived through reconstruction; that rallied even under the iron heel of despotism; asserted and maintained its organization under the military rule of a Slicks and a Canby, when the great State of North Carolina was officially known among her sisters as "District Number Two." A party which came through from 1860 to 1878, having in the meantime regained its lost control of the State, standing to-day where it stood eighteen years ago, is not likely to quit business and go into liquidation on account of the landable ambition of two gentlemen to sit in the Senate of the United States.

Now to silence, once and for all, this unnecessary apprehension on account of the attitude of Governor

Vegetine.

I ADVISE ALL WHO ARE SUFFERING AS I HAVE SUFFERED TO GIVE VEGETINE A TRIAL.

Boston, Sept. 5, 1877.

Dear Sir,—I have suffered with Scrophulous Humor for seven years, and could get no relief. I have tried every kind of medicine, but nothing did me any good. I was from my knees to my ankles one mass of sores. I was advised by a police officer—"B. Hill" to try Vegetine. I commenced last July, and after taking the second bottle I began to get relief, and the sores to heal up. I was finally reduced to one large ulcer on my right leg, that ran so much and so deep, that many said I must lose my leg; but after I had taken ten more bottles of Vegetine, the leg was healed up, and I am now as well as ever in my life. I have been the best of health, and my blood is pure. I have been advised by all who know me to give up the idea of ever being cured, but I have now a perfect cure. I have been advised by all who know me to give up the idea of ever being cured, but I have now a perfect cure. I have been advised by all who know me to give up the idea of ever being cured, but I have now a perfect cure.

Yours most respectfully,
